

SCHOLARSHIPS AND BURSARIES POLICY

Queen Mary's School widens access to its education through scholarships and bursaries. The availability of the awards are included in the school's literature and advertised on the school website.

1. Scholarships

Queen Mary's offers honorary Scholarships at 11+, 12+ and 13+ to both internal and external candidates. They are awarded to girls in the Senior School who demonstrate a particular aptitude for academic work, Art, Music, Sport or Riding. In special circumstances girls from other age groups within the Senior School may be awarded honorary Scholarships. Applications for Scholarships are invited during the Autumn Term for assessment in the Spring Term of each year for the forthcoming academic year.

Internal candidates will be nominated by the Head following consultation with members of staff and an assessment of the academic data for academic candidates. No coaching of internal candidates is permitted as this would disadvantage external candidates. External candidates may apply by submitting an application to the Admissions Department. A reference from the candidate's school may be sought.

Scholarships awarded, up to and including those for the 2016-17 academic year, will continue to be honoured until the pupil leaves the school or, is reduced pending the annual review of the pupil's performance.

With effect from 1 September 2018 all new scholarships are honorary awards, focusing on enhancing pupils' skills and talents, and have no financial remuneration associated. The successful candidates will be supported during their time at the school and be enrolled in the school's Scholarship Programme including opportunities to develop their talents and skills within workshops and on educational trips. Detailed information relating to the selection criteria and assessment process are outlined in the current Scholarships Information Booklet available from the Admissions Department.

2. Bursaries

Queen Mary's offers bursarial assistance to parents / legal guardians who might not otherwise be able to afford the fees or are experiencing a change in their circumstances.

Internal and external applications should be made to the Head of Finance & Estates by 31 December for consideration by the Scholarships and Bursaries Committee at their meeting in the Spring Term of each year for the forthcoming academic year. Applicants will be informed of the outcome by the end of the Spring Term. Exceptional circumstance applications may be considered outside of the published programme for applications. The application should be processed in the normal way and presented to the Scholarships and Bursaries Committee for consideration at their next scheduled meeting.

In attempting to make fair and just decisions and, to comply with the recommendations of the Charities Commission, all applications for assistance will be formally assessed. To assist in this process the school engages the services of Bursary Administration Limited (BAL) to conduct an independent financial review of all new applications and annual reviews. All bursaries are reviewed annually.

Applications will be considered for pupils who would benefit from a Queen Mary's education.

Bursaries for children of the Church, serving members of HM Forces and, for siblings of children already at the school are given automatically¹.
